MEETING of griffin aubscribers was heldin the Hongkong Hotel this afternoon, Mr H. W. Dick was called to the chair. any address. In these Catalogues the Mr Hough said he had received a letter Per Bellona, at 9.30 a.m., on Wednesday, Seeds are Marginally Numbered in English from the Horse Bazus asking if any subscription griffins were wanted for the coming races. If so, they wanted to cgeborders as soon as possible. At present he had 23 solual subscribers. Four or five more were doubtful, and he had The German Contract Packet Preusen will Orders from one person, of from $5 to $10, no doubt they would join later on. Mr. Fraser Smith asked if the Horse Bazaur would supply on last year's terms and what races would be set apart for subscription griffins. Mr Hough said he had no authority to state that the Bezane would supply griffins on the same terms as last year. He had had some difficulty in gettings subscriptions and was siob in a position to treat for griffing until he consulted with the aubecribers. He had not much doubt but what the Horse Bazar would supply on the same terms. He had no authority to state what races would be set aside for subscription. Mr Smith peoposed an adjournment for a week, in order that terms might be ascertained from Shanghai. and some authority obtained from that Stewards to state the races would be on similar lines as last year. There The best and cheapest machines in the were no Stewards present, which showed. he said, the intense interest they took in sport generally. Mr. Hough took upon himself from conversation he had had with the Stewards to say that if griffins were subscribed for the races would be on the lines of last year. The Chairman said there was every reason the griffins should be ordered as wally las possible. The Stewards for next meeting: were elected later on and the present Stewards could not fix the races The last griffins were a ragged lot, and it would be well if they could get a man like Mr Tripp to get ponies, shroff them, and send the best to Hongkong. Mr Hongh said there was a great difficulty in putting: a thing of that kind through On average there were not more than sight: ragers out of 600 or 700 griffing during the year. A private individual would have: great difficulty in undertaking the order and they might have to pay dear for the ponies. No one was nearly so well able: to fulfil the order as the Bazaar. All the griffins came through their hands and a great many were discarded. After some further discussion, it was agreed to make

THE CENSUS.

To the Editor of the 'CHINA MAIL.' Hongkong, Aug. 28. Srn,-With reference to the letter in your morning contemporary on the subject of the Conaus, it is to be deeply deplored that the Registrar General was not aware that there is in our midst a true-born Statistician, who could have conducted him slong the correct statistical path and saved him invidious comparisons with the Singapore enumerators of the people! Now what is the complaint of our great gan, the statistician, against the Hongkong Returns, which have been generally acknowledged as satisfactory? Simply this, that the whole of the Asiatic population is lumped togother under the senseless head of nationalities other than Europeans, Americaus, and Chinese.' Like Homer the great statistician has been nodding, or has not extended his statistical inquiries to the former Census returns of Hongkong. Nodding, with the thermometer at 90° is excusable, but for a statistician, and great one too, to neglect any field of statistical inquiry, especially when he ventures to criticise the cultivators of it, is unpardonable. " Had he been as well acquainted with the history of Census returns in Hongkong as he ought to be he would have known that the 'senseless head 'at which he gibes ought not to be put on the present Registrar General's shoulders, since it ap. flight. pears in the previous Census returns of this Colony, which returns, it seems to me, the Registrar General was bound to follow as far as possible to enable him to com- people rush out of the world. A collection of public documents on passing them on to his subordinates, who published in 1826 in 120 books. It was Peking, and Chang-yao was forced to give republished by the Shanghai publishers in way, he gave way, but not with any in the government bookshop of Tientain and probably in all the provinces. Two books of the supplement are devoted to Christian missions. I have just glanced through both, and can quite understand Mr Richards when he apoke of their contents as scandalous. Anything more false, disgraceful, and inflammatory, it would be difficult to find even among the vile placards of Hunan. 'After this,' says Mr Richards, follow scandalous quotations from Wei report on the Nanyang squadron; a report Yuen, who says that men and women sleep which we have no doubt thoroughly wellpromiscuously together in the churches; founded, though its author's only qualifithat 130 taels of silver are given in three instalments to the converts to help them to do business, that the Christians' eyes are accoped out by the priest after douth, that when these eyes are melted up with lead eight per cent. of the lead is turned to silver, that a pill is given, which makes the convert pledge himself for life, and so bewitched is he that the first thing he does is to destroy the ancestral tablets. That several other things are practised Christians, which I consider too vile to print.' Mr Richards closes his remarks on the Blue-Books with the following grave reflection: 'Thus end the Blue-Books without the slightest acknowledgment of any

They are to be found in every yamen, and in thousands of private libraries. The Foreign Powers have decided that the Hunan publications shall cease, because they poison the minds of the people. For a still stronger reason they ought to decide that these two books shall cease in their present form, because they poison the minds of the officials and scholars. . I am etc.,

> THE DEATH OF CHANG YAU. Commenting on the death of Governor Chang - Yau, which we announced on fuenday last, the N.O. Daily News of 25th inst. says :- The death on Saturday morning of H.E. Chang-yao, Governor of Shantung, in middle life, is a serious blow to the State. Of the eighteen provinces into which China proper is divided, excluding Formoss and the New Dominion, there are fitteen which have Governors-General, or Viceroys as we call them, over them, and only three, Honan, Shantung, and Shansi, in which the Governor is the highest authority. Of these three independent Governorships. Shantung is the most important, sand Chang-you was already almost of viceregal rank, and was mentioned as the most likely candidate for the next vacant Vices royalty. But that he was a Chihli man; he would without doubt have been the succensor of H.E. Li Hung-chang himself, but no one can hold may office of importance in him on the part of the literary class was that he came into the service of the State employment by the Throne. In Mr Jordan's invaluable List of the Higher Metropolitan and Provincial Anthorities of China his services are stated as u der :--

Commander-in-Chief, Kuangtung, Assistant Admistrator New Dominico Oct. '81. Governor Kuangsi July '85. Governor Shantung June '86. Took office July '86. Assistant Director Board of Admiralty June '88. Chang-yao was a good Governor. as officials go in China. He spent enormous sums of money on the Yellow River without, so far as can be seen, doing any publications of Hunan in their special permanent good. He never had the bearing on the recent riots. It cannot but reputation of being more grasping than the average Chinese high official, nor was he reputed to be especially clean-handed. He was classed somewhere between the late and present Viceroys of the Two Kuang. Those who have read from time to time the letters of our correspondent at Chinsufu done, and that without firing a single shot will remember that Chang-yao's dealings with the missionaries were strictly after the manner of his kind. He evaded their in turn passed them bok to him : and when at last the missionaries appealed to recent triennial examination of the records of the high officials, he was one of the few who were specially selected by the Throne for commendation. The first intimation we had that he was seriously ill came in the letter of our Tientein correspondent of the 17th, which appeared in our columns on Saturday morning. and in which it was mentioned that the Viceroy had despatched his own medical adviser. Dr Irwin, to attend the Governor, an attention which shows how highly Chang-yao was valued by Li Hung-chang. It was only the other day that our Chinanfu correspondent mentioned Chang-yao's have ing just sont out six hundred copies of the recent Imperial Decroe in favour of religious: to'eration; and it was only on Saturday that we gave a summary of the Governor's cation for forming an opinion on naval matters was his appointment three years. ago to the Board of Admiralty. It was obviously, however, a report which would be anything but displeasing to his patron,

Li Hung chang. His death will seem a serious loss to the State because it appears that the Cabinet has very few names on its list of possible Viceroya. The recent appointment of La Han chang and Liu Kon yi, both old men who might be fairly considered to have served their time, shows how few are, in the opinion of the Cabinet, available candidates for the highest provincial offices and the man who probably stood first ou the list has now been prematurely removed; by death. It is quite possible that our late Teotai, Kung Chao-yuan, who has risen repidly through the Judicial Commissionership of Chekiang to the Treasurership of Ezechuan, will be selected to succeed Chang-yao. He has the recommendation in the Vicercy Li's eyes of being an Anhui
